DIVIDING LINES

Dividing Lines is a formation of five young, talented musicians from Leipzig. Their sound reflects the great models of post-punk and deathrock again, examined it nevertheless for an individual nature. Due to their independence, they explore the different spectra of human emotions, where the pursuit of happiness and joy, the inevitable condition of pain and loss is the opposite. The result is a style of music that opens the listener a sanctuary in which he can give free rein to his feelings and escape from everyday life.

Since 2013, the Leipzig-based quintet stands for dark, atmospheric DeathRock-Punk: shrieking DeathRock-guitars, impulsive walking-bass, wavy keyboard-sounds and a Punk attitude that expresses mainly in their DIY lifestyle. On top the melodic-plangent vocals by singer Marie and bassist Erich. All that sounds dark, cold and distanced and will excite fans of 80s DeathRock and PostPunk icons.
